June is also a great month for Associates of the American Revolution Institute of the Society of the Cincinnati to be doubled. Look for a special message on Monday, June 1, with all the details.

The Institute uses social media to promote understanding and appreciation of the constructive accomplishments of the American Revolution. Do you follow the American Revolution Institute on social media?

The Female Review: or Memoirs of an American Young Lady

The American Revolution secured our independence, created our republic, established our national identity, and expressed ideals of liberty, equality, natural and civil rights, and responsible citizenship that have defined our history and will define our future. The American Revolution Institute of the Society of the Cincinnati promotes knowledge and appreciation of those achievements, fulfilling the aim of the Society of the Cincinnati officers who founded the Society of the Cincinnati in 1783 to perpetuate the memory of that vast event.

The Institute supports advanced study, presents exhibitions and other public programs, and produces educational products including documentaries produced by our staff. Think of it as the American Revolution, one bite at a time.

For questions about donations, please contact our Development Office at 202.326.0118 or donate@americanrevolution.org.

The Revolution One Bite at a Time

To mark the bicentennial of the American Revolution, the Institute has presented more than sixty videos in the Revolution One Bite at a Time series. Each talk is inspired by a special piece from our collections and concludes with an opportunity to explore the piece in detail. These free video clips can be found on our YouTube channel. Choose a video of your interest and enjoy the American Revolution in manageable bites. You can also watch the video archive here.

Documentaries

The American Revolution Institute of the Society of the Cincinnati produces documentaries to bring the Revolution closer to our audiences. These documentaries use our collections and the work of expert historians to explore America before, during, and after the Revolution.

The most recent documentaries produced by our staff are:

The Price of Independence: The Story of Deborah Sampson, a young Massachusetts woman who enlisted in the Continental Army disguised as a man and served on the battlefield.

The Price of Insecurity: India in America, 1600-1800. This documentary asks students to create their own "Lunch Bites," each talk is inspired by a special piece from our collection and includes a discussion of every U.S. president until the present day.

Accounts of War: War, Money, and Society in America, 1775-1865. This documentary series explores Federalist and Jeffersonian America through the lens of money and war.

Deciphering America: The Constitution as a Digital Archive. This documentary examines the adoption of the Constitution through the lens of its interpretation and application.

We are committed to offering all our educational programming to all our audiences. If you have any questions about accessibility, please contact our Development Office at 202.326.0118 or donate@americanrevolution.org.

If you have any questions about accessibility, please contact our Development Office at 202.326.0118 or donate@americanrevolution.org.